

Walking to my car from a class at Hofstra University in New York, I came across a sign up to "Road to Hollywood" with speaker Brent Scarpo and entered the auditorium to a HUGE crowd of people. Three years have passed and after the Spring Break Hollywood program and The Artists way 12-week coaching program, I live four miles from Hollywood in Culver City, CA. The journey is my own but Brent is an AMAZING Life Coach who facilitated the transition for me to become a serious producer.

Everything he does is done with intensity, care, and a definitive belief in a Higher Power. My evidence to support this claim is that the whole time I have spent around him or speaking with him has been directly related to issues needed to be explored. The results were favorable for both of us because no matter what you tell him; he remembers and finds the path to resolving the root issue. Specifically, I could not have believed in the concepts without him and have met people, heard stories, and lived 2 years in LA , CA. I do know where I would be or what I would be doing had I not taken on the purpose of getting the blocks out of my life and estranging myself from "crazy-maker" people.

In basic terms; talk to Brent and exchange views on any mildly relevant topic and his drive is visible and he will not bite his tongue. Be ready to deal with some skeletons, relive some fond childhood memories otherwise forgotten, and best of all look forward; finally to what we may not know exists. A new space and a new time. If you are already blessed with an intellectual mind you will be challenged on that surface. I always liked rare opportunities based on human referrals and when I talked to a previous clients of Brent and their families confirmed for me what I was feeling to start and finish this challenge was the best choice for me.

All I ask that whoever reads this stays true to common sense while having a flair for the dramatic because we all deserve time off from the struggles of the world in order to prepare in any weather and in any interaction; Brent Scarpo will use his expertise as your umbrella.

Respectfully,

Ryan Vaughn